what we stand for

We bring together cinema and conversation for the common good. We believe that film is a powerful means to engage with other people and their stories, raise awareness of important social justice issues, and build community relationships across differences.

people we reach

Since our first year, we’ve screened to more than 5,000 people in King, Snohomish, & Spokane County. Our community is engaged and loyal, and continues to support our new initiatives as we move online. We stay connected via:

- Our newsletter with more than 2,000 subscribers
- Our podcast Justice in Motion
- Monthly digital screenings, events, and interviews

what we offer

Our sponsors get high visibility throughout the SJFF as well as an opportunity to be a part of the SJFI in a more meaningful way. Whether you choose to sponsor a special event or become a founding partner, we work with you to find the most effective ways to build this social justice film community.

why we need you

The Social Justice Film Festival & Institute works hard to provide a platform for underrepresented filmmakers and for stories that often go unheard. This year, due to COVID-19, we are moving to a purely online festival. Every sponsorship helps us continue to bring underrepresented stories and filmmakers to screens across the globe.
